

Gaudi Art Lesson 2017 - Tina Finch

For this lesson we watched this video:

And we also watched a couple minutes of a video on Parc Guell which shows the mosaic technique for which Gaudi was known. But that video is no longer available. I suggest searching youtube for an appropriate video but not watching one that is too long.

For the art project I decided to focus on the mosaic technique. I found black outline images of animals such as turtles, frogs, cats, and lizards. I then had the kids trace the outline images on to regular paint/marker paper. They used small pieces of patterned scrapbooking paper to make their mosaic. It was fun to have lots of different types of paper choices. The kids were allowed to draw their own animal image if they chose and had the choice of using markers to create the mosaic look as well. The kids had a lot of fun and some great pieces were created.
